

UK Government: Reject proposals to deregulate childminders.

Childminders have launched a change.org petition against proposals put forward by Elizabeth Truss MP to deregulate the childminders. The campaign has attracted support from registered childminders (past & present), as well as respected professionals from the wider early years sector and concerned parents.

- These proposals threaten a two-tier system of childcare, where only some children will be able to access care regulated by Ofsted.
- Childminders have worked tirelessly to meet the standards set by Ofsted and provide high quality care and education within a home setting. These proposals would destroy much of this work
- We want assurance from government that they will build upon the significant progress that has been made in the childminding sector in recent years, ensuring that this is a step forward with positive benefits to all, but especially for children.

Joining the campaign is as easy as 1,2,3

Sign the petition by visiting:

1 <https://www.change.org/petitions/uk-government-reject-proposals-to-deregulate-childminders>.

2 Visit the NCMA 'Individual Inspection Matters' campaign by visiting: http://www.ncma.org.uk/news_and_events/individual_inspection_matters.aspx

3 Tell all your friends and families - Share the petition and NCMA campaign on Facebook, email and Twitter - help us get the message out there. Visit <http://childmindinghelp.co.uk/forum> to discuss the matter further.

UK Government: Reject proposals to deregulate childminders.

Childminders have launched a change.org petition against proposals put forward by Elizabeth Truss MP to deregulate childminders. The campaign has attracted support from registered childminders (past & present), as well as respected professionals from the wider early years sector and concerned parents.

- These proposals threaten a two-tier system of childcare, where only some children will be able to access care regulated by Ofsted.
- Childminders have worked tirelessly to meet the standards set by Ofsted and provide high quality care and education within a home setting. These proposals would destroy much of this work
- We want assurance from government that they will build upon the significant progress that has been made in the childminding sector in recent years, ensuring that this is a step forward with positive benefits to all, but especially for children.

Joining the campaign is as easy as 1,2,3

Sign the petition by visiting:

1 <https://www.change.org/petitions/uk-government-reject-proposals-to-deregulate-childminders>.

2 Visit the NCMA 'Individual Inspection Matters' campaign by visiting: http://www.ncma.org.uk/news_and_events/individual_inspection_matters.aspx

3 Tell all your friends and families - Share the petition and NCMA campaign on Facebook, email and Twitter - help us get the message out there. Visit <http://childmindinghelp.co.uk/forum> to discuss the matter further.